DETAILED ACTION

This Office is in response to the Request for Reconsideration filed on Feb. 21, 2003 (Paper No. 4).

Claim Objections

1. Claims 10 -11, and 13 are objected to because of the following informalities:
- " said subsystems" should be -- said subsystem --.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-2, 6-9, and 11-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by Hu (US Patent No. 5,680,841).

Hu discloses a fluid system (See Fig. 1) for an internal combustion engine (10), said internal combustion engine including a head assembly (20, 52) having at least one subsystem (30, 32, 40, 60, 70) positioned therein, said fluid system comprising:

Art Unit: 3748

hydraulic fluid (50); and a fluid pump (80) operatively applying said hydraulic fluid to the head assembly and being used solely for actuating the at least one subsystem positioned in the head assembly of the internal combustion engine, wherein said fluid system includes a high pressure fluid manifold (64), wherein said hydraulic fluid is used to actuate an exhaust valve actuation system (30, 32, 40, 60, 70), wherein said exhaust valve actuation system is a compression release brake system (See ABSTRACT; Col. 3, line 29 through line 52), where said hydraulic fluid is used to actuate an intake valve actuation system (30, 32, 40, 60, 70).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 5 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hu (as applied to claims 1 and 9 above) in view of Glassey (US Patent No. 5,191,867).

Hu discloses the invention as recited above, however, fails to disclose the said subsystem is a fuel injection system.

The patent to Glassey on the other hand, teaches that it is conventional in the hydraulic system application art, to utilize a hydraulic system (20) to actuate a fuel injection system (10, 18).

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have utilized the hydraulic system to actuate a fuel injection system as taught by Glassey in the Hu device, since the use thereof would provide an improved fuel injection system for the internal combustion engine.

6. Claims 3-4 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hu (as applied to claims 1-2, and 13/9 above) in view of Bartley (US Patent No. 6,220,521).

Hu discloses the invention as recited above, however, fails to disclose a heat exchanger (or a heater) operatively connected between the fluid pump and the high pressure manifold for a camless engine.

The patent to Bartley on the other hand, teaches that it is conventional in the heat exchanger application art, to utilize a heat exchanger (33) to maintain the hydraulic fluid temperature of a hydraulic system (60) in a camless engine (30).

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have utilized a heat exchanger as taught by Bartley in the Hu device, since the use thereof would maintain the hydraulic fluid temperature properly for a camless engine.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments filed on Feb. 21, 2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The reference to Hu reads " the hydraulic fluid may be .....any other suitable fluid " (See Col. 4, line 12 through line 13), it does teach that it is unnecessary to share such a fluid with an conventional, existing fluid subsystem for an internal combustion engine. In addition, it also discloses the fluid system (See Fig. 1; 50, 52, 80; and Col. 3, line 53 through Col. 4, line 13) operating closely with " the at least one subsystem (30, 32, 40, 60, 70) positioned in the head assembly (52, 20) ". Therefore, the device of Hu is too " used solely for actuating the at least one subsystem positioned in the head assembly ".

Conclusion

8. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
